Fort Leonard Wood is coordinating for a premiere of Postcards from Buster Nov 18, 10 a.m. on post.

One of the families in the original production has since been re-assigned, and plans to return for their daughter to participate in the premiere.

This is an enlisted family with limited funds, and they've asked if there are any complimentary rooms available.

As a reminder, Postcards from Buster is a spinoff of the Arthur cartoon series (PBS), and this is the first military episode they've ever done for either series. Buster visits a military post, Fort Leonard Wood in this case, and interacts with military children, learning about military life.

There are no guarantees of publicity for support at the premiere.

They're requesting a room for 17 and 18 Nov.
